
BIG AUDIENCE QUESTIONS AS PLAY AMAZES THEM

A typically clever, critical audience, that completely filled the Majestic Theatre last evening, sat gripped from start to finish by the power of the dramatic version of Tolstoy's great story, "Anna Karenina." The drama, which does not differ in a single particular from the novel, is called by the audience, without their being aware of it, a well-defined question mark in their minds.

This was not all in the superb character of the presentation of the play from the standpoint of stagecraft.

It was not all in the ability of the same to be made to do so much with so little. It was not all in the fact that the play was so cleverly and so effectively made to do so much with so little.

It was not all in the fact that the play was so cleverly and so effectively made to do so much with so little.

CHARLOTTE HUNT HAS NEW TRIUMPH

Charlotte Hunt scored another triumph at the Broadway Theatre yesterday in the thrilling melodrama, "No Mother to Blame." Miss Hunt enacted the role of Rose Tarr, severely injured in Ralph Carleton, a man who is in the power of a cruel, unscrupulous, and unscrupulous man. She gave splendid support to Alexander Gray, who played the part of the villainous stock company. Friday night is her next night.

"BILLY, THE KID," JUST SUITS SANTLEY

In his new melodrama, "Billy the Kid," Joseph Santley has a part named in his requirement. It is running this week at the Grand Opera House. It gives the young actor splendid opportunity for his performance, and some delightful scenes. Santley is an actor of great force and energy, and he has a fine voice. He is a very good actor, and he is a very good actor. He is a very good actor, and he is a very good actor.

The Heath Legends.

With apparently deep sublimity concerning the condition of his mind. To achieve this, he had to the cause of her fight he had smiled deprecatingly.

CHAPTER IV In the Heath Mansion

HE cheerful and forbidding atmosphere of the December day seemed to penetrate to the soul of Catha Heath. In the long drive from the station to the house, she had felt the cold wind blowing against her face, and she had felt the cold wind blowing against her face.

Formal Welcome. Catha Heath had through English architecture and American wealth transplanted to New York a beautiful residence of the old world. The house was a masterpiece of architecture, and it was a masterpiece of architecture.

A Chance for Women to Help the Police

THE police to-morrow begin their annual visits to the houses of Boston for the purpose of obtaining the names of every male resident over twenty years of age.

We hope the women readers of the BOSTON AMERICAN will do everything they can to help the police in this matter. They should give the names of their husbands and all men who live in the household.

It is well to write down these facts on a piece of paper and have them all ready to hand to the policeman when he arrives. For this purpose a blank like the following may be used.

Name
Age Occupation
Residence, May 1, 1908
Women readers of the BOSTON AMERICAN have a chance to perform a public service by getting the names of all the men in their households upon the voting lists in this way.

The women are the ones who will be at home when the policeman calls. Upon them, in a large degree, will fall the responsibility for seeing that the names of the men in their households are properly advertised by this newspaper.

Anty Drudge on Cold Lashes. Anty Drudge: "Why, Mr. Sorrowful, what makes you sit on the doorstep?" John Sorrowful: "I'm just waiting for Mary to hand me out a bit of cold lunch. I never go in the house on weekdays, it smells like a bone mill." Anty Drudge: "Nonsense. Your wife washed with Fels-Naptha soap to-day, and it was all done two hours ago. She has a nice hot lunch for you and had time to read and play the piano before. And there's never any body smell when Fels-Naptha's used."

There was a woman who made a prayer to be saved from washday with all its care. Then she tried Fels-Naptha and quit praying that particular prayer. It wasn't exactly washday that she meant. What she really did mean was to be saved from boiling clothes, with its resultant nauseous steam and heat, and from back-breaking hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha answers that kind of petition completely, if you use it the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper. For white clothes you'll read: Soap the clothes, roll and let them soak in cold or lukewarm water for 30 minutes. Then rub lightly, inse, hang out on the line. No, you don't boil them; Fels-Naptha takes the place of that hard rubbing, too. Fels-Naptha has many other valuable uses—washing dishes for instance. You'll find directions for all on the wrapper. Be sure and follow them.

Dr. Emily H. Kelly, Buffalo, N. Y. The Century Dictionary and cyclopaedia are now being sold in limited numbers. Only a few sets are left, and they are being sold at a special price. This is the last chance to get this valuable work at such a low price.

Anty Drudge on Cold Lashes. Anty Drudge: "Why, Mr. Sorrowful, what makes you sit on the doorstep?" John Sorrowful: "I'm just waiting for Mary to hand me out a bit of cold lunch. I never go in the house on weekdays, it smells like a bone mill." Anty Drudge: "Nonsense. Your wife washed with Fels-Naptha soap to-day, and it was all done two hours ago. She has a nice hot lunch for you and had time to read and play the piano before. And there's never any body smell when Fels-Naptha's used."

There was a woman who made a prayer to be saved from washday with all its care. Then she tried Fels-Naptha and quit praying that particular prayer. It wasn't exactly washday that she meant. What she really did mean was to be saved from boiling clothes, with its resultant nauseous steam and heat, and from back-breaking hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha answers that kind of petition completely, if you use it the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper. For white clothes you'll read: Soap the clothes, roll and let them soak in cold or lukewarm water for 30 minutes. Then rub lightly, inse, hang out on the line. No, you don't boil them; Fels-Naptha takes the place of that hard rubbing, too. Fels-Naptha has many other valuable uses—washing dishes for instance. You'll find directions for all on the wrapper. Be sure and follow them.

GRANITE STATE 'DRY'; 1,000 TO LOSE WORK

Special to the Boston American.

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 30.—It is estimated that more than 1,000 people, including managers, bookkeepers, clerks, drivers and other employees, will be thrown out of work to-morrow morning through the closing up of hotel bars, liquor saloons and saloons in the twenty-five cities and towns of New Hampshire which were from license to sell alcohol at the last November election.

The loss to the State in license revenue will be about $100,000. In the six cities where license revenue is the largest, the loss will be about $20,000. In the twenty-five cities and towns where license revenue is the largest, the loss will be about $20,000.

The cities which are dry include Berlin, Concord, Franklin, Keegan, Lonsdale and Manchester. The cities which are dry include Berlin, Concord, Franklin, Keegan, Lonsdale and Manchester.

What One Dollar Will Do. It was a great thing for the American public when the Cosmopolitan Magazine decided to make an unusual subscription effort and quickly add 50,000 regular readers to its list, which means increased popularity and influence, with a corresponding advance in advertising rates—an advance that would be justified by quality as well as quantity of circulation.

Having thus decided, it was also a fine thing for the public that the Cosmopolitan had the business enterprise to undertake a project of real literary and educational importance; and the magazine certainly did this when, to get these desirable subscriptions, it secured for exclusive distribution throughout the country all the 1907 edition for 1907 of the

The One Supremely Useful General Reference Work. The Century is so planned and prepared as to answer quickly the question and meet the needs of everyone. It is necessary, therefore, that it should be not only the greatest dictionary and the best encyclopedia, but also a handbook of history, a gazetteer, a library of biographical and literary references, a really complete atlas of the world, and so on.

Latest Revised Edition for 1907. The few sets we are distributing are of the very latest edition for 1907. It is unabridged, it is printed on colored and improved, and is the only one now issued by the Century Co. The volumes, from a mechanical point of view, are perfection, and fully equal to the high standard of the former expensive editions. The work is printed in the De Vinne Press, the most perfect of all printing establishments, and the bindings are at once handsome and durable, as befits volumes destined for daily use.
